

The Aboriginal Health College is proud to present the inaugural research seminar series

21st Century Aboriginal Health Research

This will be an afternoon of research presentations on Aboriginal Health Research projects with an afternoon tea to follow.

Please join us to learn about how researchers have engaged communities and the benefits that flow from well-designed research.

Presenters include –

The SEARCH (Study of Environment on Aboriginal Resilience and Child Health) team

The POCHÉ Centre's Adjunct Associate Professor Kylie Gwynne; and
The University of Wollongong's Professor Kathleen Clapham.

Where: Layland Auditorium, 35 Harvey Street Little Bay NSW 2036

When: Tuesday 19th of June 2018 – 2:00pm-4:00pm

Please rsvp via the following link:

<https://www.eventbrite.com/e/21st-century-aboriginal-health-research-tickets-46177704758>