

Building capacity to respond to co-occurring mental health conditions in alcohol and other drug treatment settings

TRAIN-THE-TRAINER WORKSHOP

Build your knowledge and skills to effectively deliver evidence-based training to AOD-workers to improve their capability to respond to co-occurring mental health conditions in alcohol and other drug treatment settings.

NSW Health has partnered with the University of Sydney's Matilda Centre to deliver a series of free one-day Train-the-Trainer workshops* for trainers with moderate to extensive clinical experience in co-occurring AOD and mental health conditions.

*This program has been developed to align with the Guidelines on the management of co-occurring alcohol and other drug and mental health conditions in alcohol and other drug treatment settings (3rd edition).

This is a specialist skills workshop suitable for trainers who:

- Are professionals supporting people using alcohol and other drugs in NSW Government or NGO and Aboriginal Community Controlled Health services operating in NSW;
- Have completed tertiary training in a relevant field and/or equivalent experience;
- Have comprehensive knowledge of, and/or experience working with people experiencing co-occurring mental and substance use disorders;
- Have experience delivering interventions for people with co-occurring mental health and substance use problems;
- Possess sound training skills and have the capacity to deliver workplace training.
